Student ID Number: ______________________

Background
Receipt by anyone in your parents’ household of benefits from the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program – also known as SNAP and formerly known as ‘Food Stamps’ – anytime during the 2014 or 2015 calendar years can have a positive impact on your eligibility for federal student aid.

Household Information
People in your parents’ household, include:

• yourself and your custodial parent(s) (including step-parent), even if you don’t live with them, and
• your custodial parents’ other children, even if they don’t live with your parent(s), if
  (a) your parents will provide more than half of their support from July 1, 2016 through June 30, 2017, OR
  (b) the children would be required to provide parental information when applying for federal student aid, and
• other people, if they now live with your custodial parents and your parents provide more than half of their support and your parents will continue to provide more than half of their support through June 30, 2017.

Attestation and Signatures (Required)
By signing below, we attest that someone in my parents’ household received benefits from the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program – also known as SNAP and formerly known as ‘Food Stamps’ – anytime during the 2014 or 2015 calendar years. The student and at least one parent must sign.

Additionally, if asked by Washington University, we will provide documentation of the receipt of SNAP benefits during the 2014 and/or 2015 calendar years.
